

Real Estate Changes Away Above Normal, Assessor Reports

Sales Approximate $135,000 In One Year,
Changes Of Residence Are Double Average

Property sales in Newmarket, in the last 12 months have totalled about $135,000, or about five times normal, B. W. Hunter, town assessor, stated this week. Mr. Hunter returned the assessment roll today. Transfers of property and an abnormal number of changes of residence by renters, estimated to be at least twice normal, have complicated the job of completing the assessment roll this year, said Mr. Hunter.

"Some people changed residence as many as three times while I was making the assessment," said Mr. Hunter.

The total assessment will be about the same as last year, and the population just about the same at 3,950, Mr. Hunter said. School age population totals 740.

There are resident in the town 180 children 5-7 years, 335 children 8-13, 125 14-15, 100 16-17. Among recent property transfers the following are announced by E. A. Boyd & Co. Robt. T. Rose has purchased the G. J. Alpin house at 77 Prospect St. Howard Proctor has purchased Mrs. Gertrude Loucks' house at the southwest corner of Prospect and Timothy Sts.

Miss M. A. Ironside has sold her house on Eagle St. to Wm. Lane. J. M. Williamson, Sault Ste. Marie, has sold his house and store at 190 Main St. to Carl Smith, Newmarket.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kirbyson have purchased the house at 59 Botsford St. Chas. E. Boyd has purchased the house and lot of P. C. Hill at 51 Gorham St.

New Tables And Chairs Modernize Primary Room

PUBLIC SCHOOLS HOLD
OPEN NIGHT FOR PAR-ENTS OF PUPILS

The first general meeting of the Newmarket Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening, with "open house" in all the classrooms. Teachers, assisted by class mothers, graciously received parents in the classrooms, where "Johnny's" desk was labelled and his work books on display. The rooms were gay with flowers, and displays of projects executed by the children gave the impression that both teachers and students had the year's work well under way.

Special interest centred around the primary room in the Alexander Muir school with its shiny new tables and chairs and soft green walls. These individual tables and chairs replace the old double desks. This is now a room in which a child's first impression of school cannot help but be pleasant and inspiring.

Senior students acted as ushers. Their graciousness, coupled with the hospitality of the social committee, under the convenorship of Mrs. Leonard Burch, in serving the delicious refreshments of tomato juice, crackers and cheese, made the evening a successful beginning to the year's program of the Home and School Association.

Officers and convenors for the year are as follows: past president, Mrs. N. L. Mathews; president, Mrs. W. H. Bell; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. H. E. Gilroy; 2nd vice-pres., J. A. Perkins; rec. secy., Mrs. L. H. Bova; rec. secy., Mrs. M. Morden Carter; treas., Mrs. M. B. Seldon.

Convenors, membership, Mrs. N. L. Mathews; social, Mrs. Leonard Burch; finance, Mrs. M. B. Seldon; health, Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards; world citizenship, Mrs. A. H. Woods; home education, Mrs. Geo. Climpson; program, Mrs. H. E. Gilroy; publicity, Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards.

FATHER DIES

John Courtney, father of Frank Courtney, secretary-treasurer of the Dixon Fenell Co., Newmarket, died at Springfield, N.J., last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Courtney left that day for Chicago, to attend an executive meeting of Lions International, and continued on to Springfield when they received the news. They have not yet returned to Newmarket.

BUYS AND MOVES SILO TO HOME FARM INTACT

Harry West, R. 3, Newmarket, sold his silo, ten by 32 feet, to J. Harry Walker, Huron St., Newmarket. Mr. Walker moved the silo to his own farm on Monday afternoon without taking it apart.

It was lowered to a wagon with a flat rack by the use of two tractors, one pulling back as the other pulled forward, in order to break the fall. Six neighbors helped remove the silo.

It was drawn to the Walker farm by means of a tractor. Going down the hill north of the West farm, on the 3rd concession of Whitchurch, the silo was held in place by ropes.

IS WAR PRISONER

Flt.-Sgt. Wm. VanZant, Newmarket, who was reported missing a few weeks ago, is a prisoner of war in Germany, according to word received by his family this week.

Newmarket W.I. Marks Its Fortieth Birthday

This year is the fortieth anniversary of the Newmarket branch of the Ontario Women's Institutes. One of the original members, Mrs. E. N. Penrose, is still an active worker with this branch.

When organized in 1903 some 50 Institutes were functioning throughout Ontario. Now, in 1943, there are about 2,000 active branches operating in Ontario alone, having a membership of over 85,000.

Branch Institutes have come into being in every province of Canada and are constantly on the increase.

In 1919 a federal Women's Institute of Canada was organized to act as a clearing-house for common problems and to initiate a national program.

The organization is non-partisan and non-sectarian. It comes under the department of agriculture and branches receive a grant each year from their provincial government.

Today Women's Institutes may be found in England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Belgium, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

The very first Women's Institute was planned, organized and born at Stoney Creek, Ont., and has since spread practically around the world.

The motto of the W.I. is "For Home and Country" and its aims are to help women acquire sound, improved practices for greater home efficiency, to discover, stimulate and train leadership and to take an active interest in the betterment of conditions surrounding community life.

Mrs. H. A. Dunham, Havelock, N.B., national president of the W.I., was included in the birthday honor list of His Majesty King George VI and is now a Commander of the British Empire.

On receiving the honor, Mrs. Dunham stated that through it she considered the Women's Institutes of Canada had been recognized for their outstanding contribution to the war effort and the national life.

The war activities of the branches are legion and have not stopped at knitting, sewing, quilting and salvage drives, but W.I.s have given unstintingly from blood donations to mobile kitchens.

Col. John A. Cooper, chairman of the Red Cross distributing committee of the national jam commission, said in a letter to the press recently that he had distributed to Britain from January to June, 1943, 427,000 lbs. of jam donated by Canadian Women's Institutes.

The Newmarket branch of the W.I. raises each year approximately $500. This money is all used for war work.

Wool is bought and supplied to members and friends, who knit hundreds of dollars worth of socks, scarves, sweaters, etc., for the local boys of the armed forces.

Layette and quilts have been donated to the Red Shield, gifts sent now and then to the Newmarket military hospital and cash donations made to Chinese, Russian and Greek relief, to funds for Britain, to Veterans, Navy League, etc., and have and will continue to contribute towards the boxes sent to the town boys in prison camps.

This year practically all the socks packed in the Christmas boxes by the town organizations for local boys will be supplied by the Newmarket Women's Institute, and 15 ditty-bags, complete with all knitted goods required by the sailors, will be filled.

The Newmarket Institute is holding its annual Victory fair and fashion show next Thursday afternoon at the Market.

JOB STEPPED UP FOR COMING VICTORY LOAN

The fifth Victory loan campaign will be launched on Oct. 18. Aubrey Davis, Newmarket, president of the Davis Leather Co., will again be York North chairman, and Harold L. Trapp, Toronto investment dealer, is the organizer.

Mr. Trapp will have his headquarters in Newmarket. The organization meeting will take place at Pickering College on Friday, Oct. 8, with Bert Trestrail, of the John Inglis Co., Toronto, as speaker.

The objective for York North is $2,275,000, compared with $2,150,000 in the last loan. Newmarket's objective is $335,000, compared with $325,000 in the last loan.

GORDON OUGH

Gord. Ough Makes Forced Landing In Mediterranean

AIRMAN HELPS TO IMPEDE
GERMAN EVACUATION
OF CORSICA

Newmarket boys who learned to swim in the Bogartown creek or the Glenville pond, and who when a little bigger used to hitch-hike up to Lake Simcoe for a "dip," are now flying over the north Atlantic, the North Sea and the Mediterranean — and sometimes they still do a little swimming or boating.

When R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Wellington bombers attacked a German convoy last Thursday night, between Corsica and the Italian mainland, Flt.-Lieut. Gordon B. Ough was piloting one of them.

The German ships were evacuating troops from Corsica, and the bombers left two of them in a smoking and listing condition. The Germans replied and some of the planes suffered damage.

Flt.-Lieut. Ough found his plane, with only one engine working, losing height rapidly, when he sighted three Allied destroyers.

"I decided to 'land' on the sea as near as possible to one of them," Flt.-Lieut. Ough related. "We scrambled into our dinghies and a destroyer, which was only 300 yards away, drew alongside and took us on board, and dressed our slight wounds."

Mrs. Ough (formerly Helen Nesbitt) and Flt.-Lieut. Ough's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ough, live in Newmarket.

The incident took place near the island of Elba, where Napoleon served his first exile. Overseas for 11 months, Flt.-Lieut. Ough has been in the Mediterranean zone since the end of June.

FOLLOW CLOSING LAW, MERCHANTS DECIDE

The Newmarket Retail Business Men's Association had a beneficial meeting on Tuesday evening.

With 19 merchants present and 15 others telephoning to explain why they couldn't attend, President R. C. Morrison thought that interest was growing.

Mr. Morrison said that every merchant would receive a questionnaire through the mail asking his opinion on various matters of policy. "Every merchant, every employee and the buying public will benefit from this organization, if everybody will get behind the organization and all work together," said Mr. Morrison.

Closing hours were discussed. J. L. Spillite thought that the organization should wait until it is stronger, and in a better position to find out what merchants want to do, before dealing with the question. H. J. Luck said that 75 percent of the business men petitioned for definite store hours several years ago, and that the town council passed a by-law, but that it had not been enforced.

After discussion it was decided that the closing provisions of the by-law should be followed and that all merchants should be asked to co-operate.

Mr. Morrison announced committees (which will be published next week).

PROMOTION DAY

Sunday is promotion day at the Congregational-Christian church. A good program has been arranged.

TAG IS SUCCESS

The proceeds of the L.T.B. tag day on Saturday were the largest ever realized in Newmarket by the lodge and totalled $159.90. E. P. Williamson provided chocolate milk refreshments for the taggers.

The prizes awarded to the highest taggers were won by Winifred DeLa Haye, Phyllis Mills and Betty Climpson, and may be had by calling at Porritt's store.

The principal of the school greatly appreciates the co-operation of the editor and of friends who have given the above information, as it has helped to make the list complete and bring it up to date. The reporting of any other names that should be added to the list will be appreciated.

Experienced Dungeons, Prisons, Gestapo Trial

An interesting letter was received by Mrs. George Bissell, Newmarket, acting president of the Salvation Army Red Shield, from Col. Mary Booth in England, granddaughter of William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, thanking the group from Newmarket for a box of comforts sent to her while a prisoner of war.

"Just a line to thank you and Capt. Brightwell for that beautiful Christmas parcel," Col. Booth writes. "You should have heard my exclamations of joy when I opened it."

"The cake was just too delicious. We do not get cake like that now in England. Soap is so precious too, and the chocolates and sweet little apron. Nearly all my things were lost in Belgium, so you can understand what a joy it is to think that my dear comrades in Canada think of me in this way."

"Please do thank all the ladies of the Newmarket Red Shield auxiliary."

"It is wonderful to be home with my dear mother at last. I have had some awful experiences, dungeons, prisons, Gestapo trial. But God brought me through. God bless Canada. God bless you all."

EVANGELIST IS SUCCESSFUL

Special meetings being held at Newmarket Gospel Tabernacle, with Rev. DeLois M. Scott as evangelist, have been a success numerically and spiritually. Rev. L. R. Coupland, pastor, said this week.

"Many have taken their public stand for Christ and every Christian attending has been inspired and encouraged in the most holy faith," said Mr. Coupland. "For all these blessings of God we humbly praise Him."

MAKE HOME IN B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Duffield and family left on Thursday evening for Vancouver, B.C., where they will make their home. Mr. Duffield was secretary-treasurer of the Newmarket Veterans' Association.

Would Give Free Help To Children Speech Handicapped

Mrs. J. W. Bowman Tells Lions Club Of Visit To Denver University Clinic On Speech Difficulties

"Some of you may recall that I first came to Newmarket 13 years ago to direct a play under the auspices of your club," Mrs. J. W. Bowman told the Lions club at St. Paul's parish hall on Monday evening.

"The two years I spent directing plays for various service clubs in Canada and the States were very happy years," said Mrs. Bowman. "I felt the satisfaction of knowing that I was helping to make the lives of a great many other people happier."

"I have not forgotten the fine spirit of co-operation and the entire town of Newmarket, at that time. Since then I have married one of your charter members and have come to Newmarket to live."

"I like Newmarket and am interested in the many community enterprises for which your club has been outstanding. This evening I come to you not to interest you in a play but to introduce a work. This is an opportunity to introduce and create interest in a culture that will bring new hope for speech-handicapped children."

"Your organization has accomplished great things in the interest of the whole community. To my mind your generous work among the underprivileged children is by far your greatest contribution to the community and your achievements along that line must be a great source of pride to each one of you. My main reason for coming here tonight is that I feel there is a further work that the club might consider among underprivileged children—a work to which I would be more than pleased to contribute my services. The work I have in mind is that of assisting children with speech handicaps."

"There are many children who are greatly handicapped on entering school by any one of a dozen speech afflictions. Some children stutter, some lisp, and others have their own individual languages that their parents understand, but that their teachers find most trying. Even though the simpler defects may be overcome or outgrown in time with little or no assistance, the child's future usually suffers through the development of an inferiority complex. Some of the more difficult cases in the past generally have been considered beyond help. These include some of those children afflicted with cleft-palate or hare-lips, and those who are deaf, mute, or stammer."

"We have been concerned about teaching our own little daughter, Carol, to speak. After considerable enquiry and correspondence with leading authorities upon speech in Canada and the States, we learned of a course being given at Denver University at Denver, Colorado. This course is known as motokinaesthetics, and deals with directing the muscular action of whole words in normal sequence, a method of speech therapy reputed to be the very best in existence today."

"When the dominion government was convinced that there was no similar course of study in Canada, it granted me permission to attend the summer session at Denver. I had been in Denver only a week when I decided to use this method not only to teach Carol to talk, but to help as many other speech-handicapped children as I could locate."

"The first week of observation in the University Clinic was the most difficult I have ever experienced. There were 55 children there, all with different speech handicaps. Miss Hall of Perkins Institution in Massachusetts was helping the deaf children with their speech. Mrs. Young, the originator of motokinaesthetics, was giving lessons to the other pupils in the clinic. Many of the cases were extremely pitiful, yet all were eager to learn and responded so definitely to the treatment that I was encouraged to master the course."

"After that first hard week I spent my days helping with the children at the clinic and the evenings reading textbooks on the

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30TH, 1943

A REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE PROVINCE

There used to be a Hepburn government in Ontario. When it was good it was very, very good, but when it was bad it was horrid. Like most editors we paid less attention to its good measures such as compulsory pasteurization of milk and free hospitalization for tuberculosis sufferers than we did to its errors.

Now we have a Drew government, and we shall be criticizing it too (because every competent newspaper editor thinks he knows more about running the world than do those who are actually running it). We ask you to bear with us for four or five years, or longer if necessary, while we criticize the Drew government, and, if we shut our eyes too much to the good that it does, write us a letter about it. Attack us violently, if you will—it's good for your circulation and ours (which is audited by the Audit Bureau of Circulations).

But also bear in mind that the criticisms which this and other newspapers make of the Drew government may help that government to do a better job—may help it to win power again.

With this introduction, may we go on to say that we were impressed with Col. Drew's Friday evening radio address. Col. Drew has already shown himself to be a man of action. He has made a good start on his job. He has gathered about him an apparently able group of men as cabinet ministers. And now let us comment on two or three things he said.

"It has also been said that we must make compromises to obtain support," Col. Drew said. "Let me remove any doubts on that score. We will govern the province and introduce legislation just as we would have done if we possessed a large majority."

That seems an exaggeration. Col. Drew would not have been in the embarrassing position of having a Liberal member of the legislature as chairman of the liquor control commission if he had a clear majority. He may name a Liberal as speaker of the house. And has the decision not to discharge any public employees, so much in contrast with the Hepburn action to the other extreme, nothing to do with the fact that Liberal support is needed in the legislature?

And we have definite knowledge of one Liberal member of the legislature whom Col. Drew summoned to Toronto to ask for his support in the legislature. Whether there were terms, we do not know. It was a sensible thing for him to do. He should know what the attitude of each Liberal member will be toward his government and the more important measures it proposes to introduce. He should try to convince them of the wisdom of his proposals, but he won't expect Liberal members of the legislature to journey to Toronto to hear his proposals without making some concession to their ideas or desires.

Col. Drew announced again that he would conduct an inquiry into labor relations and "lay the foundations for the very best labor laws that can be enacted." We do not know his reason, yet Col. Drew declined to participate in the inquiry into labor relations which the Conant-Nixon government conducted earlier this year.

It reminds us of Premier King's action in 1935 in referring the Bennett new deal legislation to the courts to have it declared ultra vires, and then obtaining a B.N.A. Act amendment which enabled the King government to introduce and take the credit for unemployment insurance. Premier Drew is like Premier King in that he won't admit the existence of the 1943 labor relations legislation, defective as it may be.

Speaking of the "widespread concern" over juvenile delinquency, Premier Drew said: "It will be our purpose to make sure that children of Ontario have a real understanding of discipline and responsibility." Premier Drew indicated that if the school term had not been at hand when his government took office, there would have been some drastic changes in the school curriculum or methods.

We do not know much about education, but we wonder when a public man, succeeding as minister of education a professional educationist of such undisputed ability as Dr. Duncan McArthur, so hurriedly announces his intention of making fundamental changes in the school philosophy. We distrust the word "discipline" when it is used by a soldier with regard to education, and we hope that Col. Drew doesn't mean what most people will think he means. We like the word "responsibility." There is a self-discipline, which comes from the acceptance of responsibility, which can be considered worthwhile education, and we hope that Col. Drew has in mind a further development of Dr. McArthur's new course of studies and the accompanying "projects" which we fear many over-burdened teachers have abandoned in favor of old-time "discipline."

The Drew government is going to do some splendid things for education. The heavy financial contribution which is promised should make possible more teachers and classrooms and give the teacher a chance to work out projects with the children, keep them 100 percent interested and develop their character and abilities. At the present time we have classes of from 35 to 50 children. Each child, for example, in a lower grade reading period, must listen while the others read over aloud the same sentences. There is discipline, deadening discipline which turns the child against schools, books, and education.

NOT A COMMONER

Appointment of Lord Beaverbrook to the British cabinet as lord privy seal calls attention to the differing attitudes in Britain and Canada toward government. In Canada an unelected representative would be unacceptable as a member of the government, with the exception of the usual one senator who holds no portfolio but acts as a government spokesman in the senate.

It does not follow that the Canadian attitude is wiser. Bernard Shaw spoke the other day of our democratic government being "nobody elected by everybody," or words to that effect. His thought is the same as that of the framers of the U.S. constitution when they provided for the appointment by each state legislature of electors who would meet together and select a president, but of course democracy has long since defeated the original constitutional intention.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

EXPENDITURE IS DECLARED UNNECESSARY

(Toronto Evening Telegram)

More wisdom has been shown by the minister of labor, Charles Daley, in refusing to have anything to do with a community wartime recreation program than was displayed by the city council in its hasty action early this month in voting $10,000 to aid the scheme, notwithstanding the advice of the legal officers that the proposed expenditure would be illegal.

The origin of this recreation plan appears to have been someone in the labor department at Ottawa who felt that war workers are in need of "bonused recreation." Forty thousand dollars was appropriated by the federal government to assist these recreational programs throughout the country but the main responsibility for financing and administration was turned over to the provinces and the municipalities. The scheme did not progress very fast in Toronto, possibly because no one was greatly convinced of its necessity. By the time a schedule of street dances, band concerts, swimming events and vacation opportunities had been drawn up summer was drawing to a close. In August the city council was confronted with a request from a committee in charge of the program for $10,000. Members of council were advised by the deputy city solicitor that the use of civic money for some of the proposed expenditures would be illegal but the $10,000 appropriation was approved nevertheless.

Labor Minister Daley's announcement that the province is dropping out of participation in the scheme because it is neither needed nor desirable seems to indicate that council rushed into a money-spending proposition without giving much attention to its value. Fortunately the initial action of the controllers and aldermen in approving the expenditure has not been approved in by-law form and the whole thing can now be dropped so far as the spending of public money is concerned.

Mr. Daley has made the eminently sensible comment that if there seems to be a need for organized recreation in some communities for war workers it will provide an opportunity for citizens to offer their voluntary services. This would be a more attractive alternative than paying $40,000 in salaries to play supervisors and office help, as was proposed in the program which the city was asked to help finance.

HO, HUM, THOSE 22 POINTS

(Toronto Daily Star)

Among the 22 points on which the Drew government asked to be elected are a pledge to "work in effective co-operation with the dominion government and with all other governing bodies in Canada in all activities which will assist in the prosecution of the war to a successful conclusion and in establishing a sound basis of social security," and an assurance that "steps will be taken to assure that every child is given the greatest possible opportunity to face life with a healthy body and mind."

These are fine statements, but what is happening in practice now that the men who made them are in power? Presented with the opportunity to "work in effective co-operation with the dominion government" and to provide health-giving services to war workers and their children, Hon. Mr. Daley, the new labor minister, has backed down. He refused this week to co-operate with the federal and municipal governments in providing recreation facilities for war workers and their families.

Why? Because, he said, "I have decided that a joint federal-provincial recreation scheme for workers in war industries is neither needed nor desirable at the present time."

But the evidence as to the need for such a program is on file in his department and was also brought to him personally. It was assembled by the war workers' recreation committee of the Welfare Council, on which are representatives from welfare agencies, churches, war plants, trade unions, boards of education and city council. It was ratified by Mrs. Rex Eaton, assistant director of National Selective Service. In response to the need, the dominion cabinet passed an order-in-council last spring empowering the federal labor department to make agreements with the provinces whereby they would jointly finance recreation services in war workers' communities.

The evidence for the need of such a program is contained in the records of the juvenile and police courts, in venereal disease clinics, in the family and children's agencies. Juvenile delinquency has been steadily increasing among 'teen-age children. Police officials have reported an increase in court appearances of boys up to 20 years of age. Syphilis has risen 100 percent among young girls.

There is a serious shortage of community centres and other facilities where young people may find wholesome friendships and recreation. In the crowded areas where industrial workers live in Toronto and other places in the province, they lack facilities for relaxation to relieve their tired bodies. The experts in this field say that government action is needed to provide such services. Voluntary agencies alone cannot do it. These services can help to spur war production. Their morale-building value has been demonstrated in Great Britain where the government spends over £250,000 a year on industrial recreation services.

But Mr. Daley has decided there is no need for them.

Three Japanese tankers and four Japanese merchantmen were sunk at Wewak, New Guinea, by Allied bombers on Wednesday. Wewak, an important Japanese shipping and air base, suffered the loss of 50 planes on the airfield and eight others were destroyed in the air battle.

Soviet armies, after taking the "gateway" city of Smolensk, have gained from nine to 15 miles in White Russia and are now within 11 miles of Gomel and ten miles from Vitebsk. This makes both ends of the last north-south German railway within Red artillery range.

In the south the Russians are at the Dnieper river, and threaten Kiev. German casualties at the Dnieper have been heavy.

Enemy submarines, fitted with heavy anti-aircraft armament, have returned to the North Atlantic sea lanes.

King Peter of Yugoslavia has arrived in the Middle East to set up a government there.

R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers smashed at Hanover, the big German industrial centre, for the second time within a week on Monday night.

The dominion government has set a price of $1.25 a bushel for the 1943 wheat crop. Western farmers are pleased.

PUBLICITY

By Isabel Inglis Colville

In these days when nearly everyone has a radio, when newspapers are a necessity, not a luxury, and magazines dealing with every phase of life as it is or is not, are the rule in homes and not the exception, publicity takes a very prominent place in our everyday life.

If we do not know the intimate details of everything that happens from the north to the south pole and all intervening areas, it is not for want of publicity, and certainly it broadens one's perspective and makes one, willingly or unwillingly, acquainted with many facts and near facts, of which, otherwise, we would be blissfully unconscious.

I received a letter the other day from the powers that be of the Women's Institute, which stresses the need for publicity for that organization. Why should the W.I., which has revolutionized much of the rural community outlook, be content to let other organizations, however worthy, steal the limelight altogether?

Why should our deeds blush unseen when they are worth publicizing? We are advised to tell of our doings, through the press and even through the medium of radio where that is practicable.

All this was fresh in my mind when I attended our Pine Orchard meeting on Sept. 21, when we had our sister Institute of Vandrof as our guests. It was an inspiring meeting, for each gained a knowledge of the other's working life, and the way problems were handled, for in an organization which does not confine itself to one line of work, there ARE problems.

Knitting, sewing, quilting, soldiers' boxes, sailors' ditty-bags, clothing for British children—all have to be considered, also the wherewithal with which to purchase materials for all this work.

Rural communities, as a rule, are not over-burdened with this world's goods, but I have yet to see a real need turned down. It is met, somehow. The program put on by Vandrof was varied, amusing, instructive—worthwhile.

A very splendid paper on the Alaska military highway, was read by Mrs. Wright. As this is to be published, I believe, I need only say it was written by one who had travelled it and knew its dangers, and its wonders; and could tell of them with humor and understanding.

A good contest on "A Christmas Dinner" was conducted by Mrs. R. Scott, a paper on the Federation of Agriculture was given by Mrs. Hennessy, and told of the benefits of such a federation and what it means to farmers, or could mean, if fully taken advantage of.

"It used to be thought," said Mrs. Hennessy, "that one didn't

Equal Opportunity

While statesmen discuss equal opportunity after the war for all people, many Canadians can not make full use of today's opportunities because of defective eyesight.

Even minor deficiencies may interfere with acquisition of knowledge and skill needed for successful living. Children find school difficult and tiring . . . adults work with lowered efficiency. Yet most visual defects may be corrected with properly fitted glasses. A careful eye-examination will tell if your eyesight is adequate.

Enquire about Correctal Lenses when you have your eyes examined. They give full, clear vision to the very edge.

Gathering the Sport Facts

Ball players certainly do get around. Take the case of the Little World series, which might take place in Toronto this year. We say perhaps because at the time this column is being written we are not sure whether it will be the Syracuse or Toronto club which will represent the International League in the series.

If it is the Leafs, and we certainly hope it is, their opponents will be either the Columbus Red Birds or the Indianapolis Indians. Both clubs are strong, there's no doubt of that, and both clubs present former Leafs on their roster.

If it is the St. Louis Cardinals farm-hands, that is, the Columbus Red Birds, the Toronto park will present nothing strange to some of their players. Three former Leafs are playing for the Red Birds. Joe Mack is performing at first base.

Mack was a wonderful fielder while performing for Toronto last year but was weak with the bat. This year he has taken a turn for the better and is really clouting that old apple. When the American Association regular season ended, Mack was sporting a batting average of .336. Not bad for a boy who couldn't hit his weight last year with Toronto.

The regular catcher of the Red Birds is Tommy Heath, the roly-poly backstop who performed on two different occasions for the Leafs. Tommy was really a hefty man but he could always hit and this year is no exception. Right now he sports a batting average of .303.

On the pitching mound they could, and probably will throw Bill Beckman at the International League winners. Beckman performed for the Leafs last year and, along with Mack, was traded to Rochester for Jimmy Ripple. In a winter-three shuffle of the Cardinal farm clubs they were sent to Columbus. The Indianapolis Indians, one of the few independently owned and operated clubs in baseball, will present four former Leafs.

At short-stop they have Carl ("Slick") Fairley, a fancy dan fielder, who put in a season as utility man with the Leafs back in 1938. Eddie Morgan, who played with Toronto a couple of years ago and with Montreal last year, is holding down the first sack. Morgan came to Toronto with a great record but he didn't live up to it and so was traded.

At third base they present Mickey Haslin, the boy whom Toronto tried to use last year and this, but he refused to report to the Leafs. He was sold for $2,500 this spring when he flatly announced that he would not play in Toronto.

But the prize package of all, as far as Indianapolis is concerned, is their catching staff. Their catcher is Stuart Hofferth, the boy who handled the big pads for Toronto last year. Hofferth came to Toronto as an outright gift from Larry McPhail and the Brooklyn Dodgers last season. It seems as though there are seven ways to release a player, but the unpredictable McPhail thought of an eighth.

This way did not meet the full approval of Judge Landis and so, at the baseball convention in Chicago last December, Hofferth was made a free agent. Indianapolis grabbed at him and he caught the bait. What hurts Toronto most is the fact that he has just been sold to the Boston Braves for $17,000, plus two players.

This season, incidentally, will mark the 26th revival of the minor league classic. The American Association has won 15 of them. The International League has picked up the winner's share on 11 occasions. Toronto has participated in four of these series. They have split even as far as records go. Twice they won the classic, on the other two attempts they failed.

They did set one record in their 1936 winning effort. On that occasion the Leafs, under the management of Dan Howley, set down the Louisville Colonels in five straight games. No other club has equalled this record. On their last attempt in 1934 they were defeated by the Columbus Red Birds, five games to four. On that occasion the club, managed by Ike Boone, finished third in the regular season and won the Shaugnessy play-offs.

Incidentally, if the Leafs go down to defeat before the Syracuse Chiefs, don't forget that they went into the series with their only .300 hitter on the shelf. Frank Coleman finished up the International League season with a batting mark of .321 but he has not participated in one game of the play-offs because of injuries.

Also Charlie Letchus, one of the best clutch hitters on the club,

NEW SCHEDULE PRESERVES RATIONING EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 30, 1943

Preserves rationing gives the consumer a number of choices both of products and sizes of containers. Because of the wide range of container sizes and the variation in buying habits across the country it was necessary to put the system into operation and then make adjustments on the basis of experience.

Now that preserves rationing has been in effect for several weeks, it is possible to make some increases in coupon values. The new schedule is announced below and is effective September 30th.

The new doubled ration allowances for molasses, extracted and comb honey will enable consumers in areas where consumption of these products is heavy, to buy more and still leave enough for districts where the total demand is light.

The increased ration allowances for corn, cane and blended table syrups and maple syrup are adjusted to bring coupon values more closely into line with the great variety of container sizes now in use.

NOW BECOME VALID SEPTEMBER 30th

The validity date of these coupons has been moved forward from the original October 14th to September 30th.

This has been done to accommodate purchasers of some items which at this season of the year are normally bought in large units.

Coupons D-6 and D-7 will become valid on November 11th and the original schedule will be continued from then on, with two coupons becoming valid every four weeks.

● Everybody is thinking a great deal about the future these days . . . planning . . . getting ready for the period to follow the war. All realize that the war may bring surprises—but the tide is turning in our favour.

Chemists and engineers, producing things needed for war, are making discoveries which will mean comforts and conveniences for all of us when peace comes. New methods of making things, new processes, new materials, now being filed away in blue prints and formulae, will bring us many new and useful articles. Many things not available now will be replaced by better models and designs.

You may have plans for a new home, remodelling your present home, new home furnishings. If you are a farmer you will need new and improved equipment and machinery.

Now, while you are thinking and planning, you can do something to insure that your plans can be carried out. Victory Bonds—which can be bought on convenient instalments, with money as you get it—provide a means of keeping your savings intact, earmarked for things you want.

Most Canadians are saving money. Most of us are buying Victory Bonds and when we buy Victory Bonds we are helping to win the war. We are helping to speed the day of victory and we are doing something that will benefit ourselves.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the face value of the Bond on the date of maturity with half-yearly interest until that time. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada backed by the entire resources of the Dominion. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest when due. A Victory Bond is an asset readily marketable at any time.

CHRISTADELPHIANS
The Bible teaches that Christ will return to rule the world in righteousness. His first work will be to judge his servants and bestow eternal life (apart nature) upon those who have obeyed the call of the Gospel and kept His commandments. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." By being baptized into Christ, we become "one" in Him and heirs to His kingdom and glory. It must be the obedience of faith. Rom. 8: 3-5, Mark 16: 16, Gal. 3: 27-29, Rom. 18: 28.

Read "CHRISTENDOM AS A TRUTH" in all public libraries or from HOWARD ROOF, JR., MT. ALBERT, or THOMAS BRIGGS, PEPPERLAW, R. R. 2.

In Memoriam

Crowder—In loving memory of Mrs. Wilfred Crowder, who departed this life Oct. 3, 1942.

Her work is done, her race is run, Death held no fear for her, With no lament, she was content, She was just what she tried to be. There is a link death cannot sever, Love and remembrance last forever.

Lovingly remembered by Mr. and Mrs. W. Hamilton and Marion.

Crowder—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Minnie Crowder, who passed away Oct. 3, 1942.

Time speeds on, one year has passed Since death its gloom, its shadows bright. Within our home, where all seemed bright, And took from us a shining light, We miss that light, and ever will, Her vacant place there's none to fill; Down here we mourn, but not in vain For up in Heaven we will meet again.

Sadly missed by her husband, Wilfred, and daughters, Iva and Glendyne.

Chapelle—In loving memory of my dear son, Irvin Levis, who passed away Sept. 28, 1941.

Time speeds on, two years have passed Since death its gloom, its shadows cast. I often sit and think of him when I am all alone, For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.

RETURNS FROM CHINA,
AFTER THREE YEARS

Miss Dorothy Fox, former Aurora girl, has just returned from China, where she served as a missionary. Miss Fox is now living in Toronto. Her father was a former minister on the Wesley, Temperanceville, Mount Pisgah circuit.

Before entering the mission field, Miss Fox was in the nursing profession and went to China just before war broke out.

Couldn't Push Him, It's
Said Of Man O' War

By BEATRICE NISBET, Aurora

It is seldom that a book as quickly and as easily read as this one (Big Red by C. W. Anderson, Macmillan) contains so many true facts. It is the story of that great racehorse, "Man O' War," and beginning with his birth, goes right on through his whole career, telling of his victories, his ancestors, his owners, his trainers, as well as his sons and daughters.

Mr. Anderson knows all about Man O' War and after reading this little book, with its fascinating illustrations, he makes us feel that we know all about him too, the horse with personality of whom his trainer said, "Ask him and he's nice, push him and it's all off."

Full of anecdotes and amusing incidents in the life of this wonderful horse, the 21st birthday party is perhaps outstanding when many birthday cakes of carrots and grain were brought for him and Glen McCarthy, famous racing broadcaster, gave a resume of his racing career, saying the horse was of the stuff from which legends and sagas are made.

Our own backward northern spring sounds quite familiar. As Mr. Anderson says, it "stands lingering on the threshold with reluctant and muddy feet." In contrast he shows us the bluegrass.

A million dollars refused at the age of 22 makes us realize that this is a horse that has, as Will Harbut, his constant guard and friend, says, "Got everything the others have, only he's got more of it."

It is nice to learn that although the Museum of Natural History has made a request for his skeleton, plans have been made instead for his peaceful burial at Elmendorf.

This slim little book, with its attractive red jacket, would be a welcome addition to a Christmas box for the boy overseas and would bring him back in fancy to the racetracks this side of the sea, and even if he has never loved the track he will love the beautiful lithographs of those fine thoroughbreds that are the descendants of this most famous racehorse, "Man O' War."

WILL BE TWO CATTLE
SHOWS AT MARKHAM

Markham Fair on Friday will be the scene of the fifth annual York county black and white show on Friday, when Holstein breeders from all over the county will parade their entries in the sawdust ring before Judge James Henderson, Portsmouth.

Mr. Henderson, past president of the Canadian Holstein Association, is one of Canada's most popular judges. For the past four years there have been from 100 to 150 head competing and it is expected that this will be at least equalled this year.

The Toronto District Ayrshire club this year is sponsoring a red and white show on Saturday along the same lines, and with the other breeds also being shown on Saturday, visitors to the fair are assured of a good show.

All the other classes, including horses, sheep, swine, roots, vegetables, fruit and handicraft, will be on display as usual.

DOROTHY EDWARDS
IS LOVELY BRIDE

Miss Dorothy May Edwards, Hope, and Mr. Emmerson Scott, Aurora, were married at the Christian church parsonage, Newmarket, on Saturday afternoon.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards.

The bride looked charming in a pale blue crepe dress with a shoulder corsage of gladioli. Miss Ruth Scott was bridesmaid and wore rose crepe with a gladioli corsage. Mr. Roy Edwards was best man.

The happy couple left for Barrie and other points, the bride wearing a black coat and hat.

WITH THE FORCES

AC2 Bill Thompson, R.C.A.F., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Thompson.

Cpl. Grant McCaheen, R.C.A.F., Guelph, spent the weekend at his home.

Tpr. Gordon Horner, No. 3 C.A.C.T.R., Camp Borden, spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Preston.

Wing Commander Lloyd V. Chadburn, D.F.C., D.S.O., was mentioned in overseas dispatches this week as having downed another German plane in action.

Tpr. Douglas Cameron, C.A.C., is taking his basic training at Orillia.

LAC Bob Watson is now stationed at Fingal.

Celebrating his fifth army birthday last week was Sgt. Howard Rutsey, R.C.A., brother of Mrs. T. A. M. Rutsey. Four of his birthdays have been spent in England, where Sgt. Rutsey was still stationed when last heard from.

A recent graduate from wireless school at Montreal is AW1 Pat Sisman, Aurora, now stationed at Halifax, N.S. Miss Sisman has been spending her furlough with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sisman. Home also on furlough has been Flying Officer John Sisman, who is stationed in Quebec city.

Yesterday Gnr. Howard ("Drummer") Lloyd celebrated his third army birthday, two of which have been spent overseas. Overseas also are a brother and two nephews.

Sgt. Keith Southwood, R.C.A.F., has been transferred to the India and Far East command.

Lieut. T. P. Cox, Royal Regiment of Canada, has been promoted to acting captain overseas. A former captain of the Aurora high school cadets, his father is B. F. Cox, secretary of York County War Veterans Association.

Social and Personal

Mrs. M. L. Andrews spent the last ten days with friends in Lambton Mills.

Miss Lavilla Hamer, Toronto, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hamer over the weekend.

Miss Bertha Andrews, of the staff of Creemore continuation school, spent the weekend at her home.

Mrs. Norman Eade spent a couple of days last week with Mr. Eade's mother, Mrs. S. J. Eade, Toronto.

WED ON PARENTS'
34TH ANNIVERSARY

A pretty wedding took place at Pine Orchard Union church yesterday afternoon when Ina Hannah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Milton Sheridan, R. R. 3, Newmarket, and Douglas Stewart Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Harrison, King, were united in marriage before an altar decorated with standards of gladioli and other fall flowers. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Jos. A. Koffend.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Albert Ridley and Mrs. A. M. Colville sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chalk-white street-length dress of silk jersey with fitted bodice and full skirt. Her shoulder-length veil, which had been sent to her by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Douglas Sheridan, London E. 2, England, fell from a calot of white feathers and she carried a testament. Her corsage was Tallman roses.

Miss Ethel Sheridan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, dressed in a dusky rose gown and Miss Ann Harrison, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and wore a blue gown, both of the same material and similar design to the bride's, with matching headgear. They wore corsages of roses.

Mr. John Sheridan, brother of the bride, was groomsmen and the ushers were Messrs. Howard and Raymond Haines of King. The reception was held at the "Chateau," Aurora.

The mother of the bride received in a gown of black crepe and matching accessories with a corsage of white gladioli and red roses, assisted by the groom's mother in a Royal blue crepe dress and navy accessories, with a corsage of peach gladioli and pink roses.

After a honeymoon to points north, the young couple will reside in Aurora.

For going away the bride donned a brown suit with matching accessories and a tweed coat.

Yesterday was also the 34th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The groom presented suitable gifts to the attendants.

Controller Promises
Coal For Both High
And Public Schools

As a result of slow supply and a few citizens getting their bins filled to overflowing, it is said, many Aurora citizens were unable to get any fuel at all when the first threat of winter came two weeks ago.

J. W. Bowser, recent purchaser of the Williamson Bros. fuel business, found himself without fuel to supply many of his customers and made vigorous representations to the regional coal controller and the wartime prices and trade board. Councillor Dr. G. A. C. Gunton, chairman of the town council's social service committee,

Navy League Undertakes
To Do A Job For Boys

The Aurora branch of the Navy League is arranging to make a shipment of 210 ditty bags and a quantity of knitted woollens to sailors and seamen for Christmas.

It is important that the shipment be made promptly if it is to reach the boys in time, it is stated. So please see, it is requested, that your contribution is delivered to Mrs. Frank Underhill not later than Oct. 15.

There is an urgent need for more workers, Aurora Navy League officers say. If you are able to help, please get in touch with Miss Anna Smith, Wellington St., or Mrs. Frank Underhill. Your services will be greatly appreciated.

Son In Hong Kong Sends
First Word He's All Right

The first authentic news that their son, Pte. Allen Harper, is alive, was received by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harper, Whitechurch township, last week when they received a letter from him. Pte. Harper is a prisoner in Hong Kong.

The letter was dated March 11, 1943, and stated he was well and not to worry about him. The last word Mr. and Mrs. Harper had from their son was a letter written on Nov. 28, 1941, while he was enroute to Hong Kong as a member of the Royal Regiment.

There are three other brothers serving in the armed forces.

WINS ANOTHER AWARD

A $400 cash scholarship, given by the Ontario government to the student obtaining the highest marks in the province, has been awarded to Mary Crichton, honor graduate of Aurora high school.

This is in addition to three other scholarships won by Miss Crichton. Although Miss Crichton qualified for two other scholarships, they go by reversion to the student with the next highest marks.

AWARD CERTIFICATES

Sunday was rally Sunday at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Rev. S. W. Hirtle was in charge of the service. He was assisted by Superintendent Irwin Watts, who read the scripture.

Three boys received certificates for memory work, Jimmy Higgins, Bill McCaheen and Ernest Summers.

Malcolm Hill was the soloist and a girls' trio, Vera Barkey, Shirley and Donna Smith sang. The young people sat together in the centre of the church.

MANNY FEDER IS HOST

The King and Vaughan Plowing association is holding its annual match on the farm of Manny Feder, Temperanceville, on Oct. 20.

WEDDING IS SEPTEMBER EVENT

A pretty lawn wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Sept. 4, when Gwendolyn Pauline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Copson, King, was united in marriage to Stoker Petty Officer John H. Adams, only son of Mrs. Margaret Adams, Wallasey, Cheshire, England, and the late W. H. Adams. The bride party, from left to right, are: Sgt. Howard Billings, Petty Officer and Mrs. Adams, Miss Beth Copson and Miss Rachel Rank. Photo by Barrager.

"Scotty" Clapper, former Aurora athlete and brother of Aubrey ("Dit") Clapper of the Boston Bruins, was among Canadian troops arriving overseas last week.

"Scotty" is a pay sergeant in the army and has been stationed in Toronto and at Camp Borden.

"Pep" Kelly, former ace of the Newmarket Redmen, then the speedster of the Toronto Leafs, Chicago Black Hawks and minor league teams, is now a fireman on the C.N.R. and stationed out of Sudbury. Regis is expected to line up this year with the Frodo Tigers in the N.O.H.A. senior and has once and for all forsaken the mooned ranks.

Kelly never did reach the peak in pro ranks that he showed among the simon pures.

"Red" McArthur, another Redman favorite of yesteryear and almost as fast on the ice lanes as the redoubtable Pepper, is also working near Sudbury, and so for the first time since 1933 the two lads may be united. McArthur has played most of his hockey since junior days in northern Ontario.

Johnny Gottselig, old man of the Chi Hawks, in his spare moments has been coaching the Racine Belles, a girls' softball team which competed in the recent Detroit tournament. He will be back again for N.H.L. hockey this winter.

Youth is certainly destined to come into its own this winter if all prognostications are correct. Harvey Bennett, the blond Regina lad who replaced Aurora's Rosa Waddell as goalie for Oshawa Generals last winter in junior A, is a candidate for the goal position with the Boston Bruins. Bennett is 17 but will be 18 soon, and with Frankie Brimsek liable to U.S. draft regulations, may be in action.

Luntz, former Owen Sound and Barrie junior, may replace the famous Johnny Mowers in the Detroit nets, tho' Jimmy Franks is still on hand and by the same token Sutherland of last year's Owen Sound intermediate team, still 17, may replace "Turk" Broda in the Leafs' nets if Turk decides to join his other mates in the armed forces.

New York Rangers, not to be outdone, have signed a 19-year-old Larry F. Williams by the name of Louisio Simi-anin, who in the past has played equally well in goal or on defence but will now try for the twine cake. From all parts of the country, reports continue to pour in of juvenile "wonders" or cranks of other days who are being lined up to replace those on active service in what is billed this year as in other years as "the fastest game in the world."

How long will the fans go for this? How long will those who take their hockey via the ether waves, fireplace and armchair believe the action pictures of hockey as painted by such masters of the vocabulary as Foster Hewitt? More and more it appears that if you want to see good hockey this winter it will be necessary to follow the fortunes of the service team and the junior A lads.

Newmarket camp recently saw an exodus of athletic figures for other training centres and games. They found unparalleled in the history of No. 23 B.T.C. Among those to go, and we list only a fraction of them, were Al Wyalski, the hard-hitting hardbatter and softbatter and spare notminder, "Case" Brown, ace hurler the past two years for the softball nine, and Larmer, this year's smart pitcher, and several soccer players. Some of the athletes who went by now will be safely overseas and we wish them good luck.

Soccer at the camp reached the end of the trail last week. Only four teams in each group were eligible for the play-offs and, depleted by drafts, Capt. George's team was weakened badly for the concluding league and cup games. They finished with a 19-point total. Addy A. C. who were well beaten by the camp earlier in the season, making the grade.

Harold Comrie, who for the past two years has performed on the pitching mound both for Newmarket camp and for certain of the civilian town league teams, was promoted to lance-sergeant recently, to add lustre to the three-hoekers' feast.

Playball Brown, who a few years back was Canada's ace fight promoter and who was one of the initial sergeants at Newmarket, is now doing recruiting work for M.D. 2. Playball made more big matches, produced more big spectacles and at the same time made less money for himself than anyone else in the same line.

Brampton camp, which has annexed the O.A. B.A. intermediate A title, Morse A.C., Crowland and Tecumseh were downed on the play-off trail. Newmarket did not have its entry accepted by the powers that be. Incidentally, at Tecumseh, which is near Windsor and caters to many war workers, Sunday ball was played in the series and has been played all teams and spectators hurt. Seems strange this can take place in one part of southern Ontario and not in another.

"Baby" Yack, who was once leading Canadian contender for the world's bantamweight title and is now in the Canadian army, is stationed at Borden and has been seen as third man in the ring as well as lending a hand to teach the rudiments of the "manly art" to Canada's budding soldiers. Yack had his bubble dream rudely blasted by George Pace, colored Cleveland boy, after he had been given a tremendous build-up by Promoter Jack Corcoran and others. He was good but not the world-beater easy matches led his supporters to believe.

Fergy Travles, Newmarket junior hockey player of the middle 20's, who is stationed at No. 3 C.A.C.T.R. at Borden, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant and is in charge of accounts at that centre. He was a well deserved appointment.

Come on lads. Read this and weep. John B. Kelly, U.S. national physical fitness director, has devised a series of tests for the boys 15 and over. To be physically fit you must be able to do six of the following tests. Sprint 100 yards in 14.5 seconds. Run a mile in seven minutes. Walk a mile in ten minutes.

Throw a baseball 150 feet. Broad jump 13 feet. High jump three feet six inches. Put the 12-lb. shot 32 feet. Take five low hurdles in 19 seconds.

Kelly says that 40 percent of those drafted were rejected in the United States as physically unfit and the majority of those accepted did not possess skill necessary for self-protection. Try out the above tests, fellows, and you'll find they're much harder to do than they actually sound. We know because we've tried them and we just barely got under the wire after some vigorous physical training.

Trouble is most of us still live in the days back when almost any of the above tests were soft touches and we still like to think we're as good as we once were.

Nell Colville, just to add to his all-round athletic ability, has tried his hand at softball for army service corps and is doing right proud, partner. The rumors from the west, however, still persist that the former ace of the New York Rangers will line up with the Red Deer army team.

Fall festivities find Aurora public school youngsters holding their annual field day in the town park on Friday. The next day there will be a field day at De La Salle College, and a football game at St. Andrew's College, just to add a bit of choice. You'll be welcome at any one of the three events.

African golf is a game which in or out of fine weather is a popular pastime with many of our compatriots, numbering, if you only knew, many you'd never suspect. Crapshooting, we know is illegal and hardly comes under the head of sport but we have read with considerable interest of the research conducted by Professor Joseph B. Rhine of Duke University. We suppose he calls his research "crapology."

For nine years Rhine has tried to prove that the mind can dominate the dice. He attempted to determine if such odds as "seven come" or "one, two, three, four, five, six" could be influenced by "kokomo," "little pebble," "snake," along with pleas and moans from those in charge of the ivory, really did have any effect. His statistics show surprising results. The group tried to throw high numbers (above eight) and low numbers (six or below) at will. Each threw 12 times and the results were carefully tabulated. The subjects got better than five hits, which was decided as a 50 percent chance. One group of 25 in 562 runs of 32 got 3,110 hits or 300 better than par. According to the professor the odds against such a result happening by chance are trillions to one. Only fly in the ointment was the age-old heart-breaker of the boys that, even though his guinea pigs didn't try to throw seven, the odds also came up more times than could be accounted for by chance. Lay that pistol down, chum!

Jimmy Cummings, ex-Aurora hockey captain, has yet to display his best rugby form. Jim injured his knee in pre-season practice, which was dinky from hockey but the lad will be back with the beat before the season is over. In the first league his brother-in-law and team-mate, a Aurora Gordy ("Moose") Brennan, was also injured.

Hockey rule changes for this year will include among others an increase in players that may be dressed. Last year it was ten men and a spare goalie, now it goes back to the original 13. (Where are the players coming from?) Players facing off must face each other and the opponent's end of the rink instead of sideways as now in vogue. Penalties are to be imposed for needless delays such as tying shoe-laces, etc., and for failing to the ice to gather in a loose puck. A new centre line will be painted red, two inches wide for defensive play.

Any player of defending team who is caught leaning forward from his own zone to a player in the same side up to the centre line without incurring an offside penalty. Managers and coaches now must be registered with the O.H.A. and like the players they will be issued with cards which may or may not be invoked as the executive see fit. Annual O.H.A. convention is set for Nov. 20 in Toronto.

Billy Taylor of Toronto Leafs is the latest big-time athlete to show up at Borden with army service corps. They're really rolling in now and if Borden led an army team it would really be star-studded.

"Chirp" Brunchley, former overseas and Niagara Falls star and last year with Army Diggers, will be one of the big shots of this winter's new hockey team at No. 23 B.T.C.

Armored corps hockey looms as a big possibility for the O.H.A. group this winter. Newmarket, Orillia and Brampton camps have all been allocated as armored centres. With three training regiments at Borden who would play in either Barrie or Midland, a swell six-team house league could be formed, with the winner going into the O.H.A. strengthened by other players from the branches of the corps. Would make a fine senior B entry and don't be surprised if it is worked out.

UNION STREET

Union Street, Sept. 22—This is the third week of the new school term. The new teacher is Miss Evelyn Murrell. The school has been greatly improved by fresh paint, new steps and walk.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaghy have moved to Port Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bleury have moved to Union Street.

Miss Jean Cunningham, Toronto, is at home until university commences.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald MacIntosh and children visited on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mort and children had dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cole recently. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Good and children had supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Crouch on Sunday.

Shirley and Peter Cole were guests at Shirley MacIntosh's birthday party on Friday night.

"If accepted in the R.C.A.F., do I have to enlist immediately?" Bring this and other questions you may have in mind to Section Officer M. P. Thompson, who will be at the town hall, Newmarket, tomorrow, from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. for the express purpose of answering the questions of those interested in learning more about the women's division of the R.C.A.F. You are under no obligation whatsoever to meet and quiz this well-known interviewing officer.

Claiming that woman-power is as essential as man-power to win this war, Section Officer M. P. Thompson, who will visit here Friday with the R.C.A.F. mobile recruiting unit, recently stated in an interview "that the hundreds upon hundreds of airmen, who are waiting to remuster to aircrew for a chance to fight in the sky, will be forced to remain grounded here in Canada unless enlistments in the women's division of the Royal Canadian Air Force show a substantial increase in the next few months."

"None of the schools," she went on to say, "of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, which has been largely responsible for our air supremacy over Europe, must be allowed to close owing to the lack of airmen. This can never happen if Canadian women will volunteer to take over the ground duties of the men who are waiting to remuster to aircrew." She added, "thousands of women between the ages of 18 and 45 are now doing jobs quite useful to the war effort, but at R.C.A.F. stations across the dominion there are much more important jobs awaiting them."

According to Section Officer Thompson, it has just been announced that wives of R.C.A.F. men enlisting in the women's division will continue to receive dependent's allowances from their husbands; while air women's dependents (parents or other close relatives) may now receive dependent's allowance at the same rate as that paid to dependents of airmen.

It was learned that increases in pay have also been announced. In group "A" for example, aircraftswomen class II now get $1.80 a day; aircraftswomen class I, $1.85; leading aircraftswomen, $1.95; corporal, $2.10; sergeant, $2.50; flight-sergeant, $2.75. Officers receive 80 percent of the pay of an R.C.A.F. officer of equal rank. Airwomen, it is also understood, do not pay income tax.

Action, interest and definite post-war value go with the many vital jobs now waiting to be filled by patriotic Canadian women. Contrary to popular belief, previous experience is not essential to enlist. The R.C.A.F. schools women for as many as 40 trades, including wireless operators, photography, hospital assistants, dental assistants, equipment assistants, laboratory assistants, operation-room clerks, teleprinter operators, telephone operators, dispensers.

He Knew All About War,
So He Joined R.C.A.F.

A former Bradford and Aurora boy, Donald K. Faris, who recently received his commission in the R.C.A.F., knows what war is like already. His knowledge is firsthand, gained by living five years under Japanese rule in China.

Son of Mrs. P. M. Faris, formerly of Aurora, and now of Toronto, and the late Mr. Faris, and born near Bradford, Donald Faris went to Chang Te, Honan province, in 1925 as a missionary for the United Church. When the Japanese took Chang Te in 1937, Mr. Faris took protective charge of more than a thousand Chinese refugees, most of them young women.

A bandit raid on the compound where Mr. Faris was providing refugee shelter he blamed on Japanese inspiration. The bandits took 40 of the girls. "The girls were horribly mistreated," he said. "Within two weeks they were brought back by the eighth route army, which rescued them."

When Pearl Harbor came, Mr. Faris sent his family home but stayed himself. Looting and cruelty on the part of the Japanese increased rapidly, said Mr. Faris. In one instance a Japanese soldier bayoneted a Chinese who refused to "drink with the invader." Mr. Faris himself experienced six months imprisonment until he was released under an exchange of internees.

CHARLIE HOLMES NOW
LABORS FOR ST. KITTS

Writing in the St. Catharines Standard, Clayton Browne says: "Charlie" Holmes, recently returned to his native city as a permanent resident by the Bell Telephone Co., is not letting any stones gather moss and he's been here just one week. With a first love for hockey, Charlie Holmes put Mgr.-Coach Rudy Pilous of the junior city squad in possession of such prospective talent that it rests with Pilot Pilous to turn the rest of the trick. Such is said to be in process this week, since the recent ban placed on age-players is now also effective.

"It's not generally known here but it was the same Charlie Holmes who acted as a 'scout' for senior Saints ever since they were organized and his connection with Newmarket Redmen for 14 winters gave him wide scope for puck prospects. It was on his recommendation that Hugh ('Scotty') Mair joined Saints, while numerous others were named and but for the war coming on, Saints would have been well away for talent. Since the junior entry is well stocked with executives, it is earnestly hoped that senior Saints find a place for this addition to the city, as a genuine hustler."

C. W. Holmes, moved to Stratford from Newmarket, is now taking over supervision at St. Catharines of divisional construction and maintenance of the Bell Telephone Niagara district.

HOPE

The W.A. held a quilting at the home of Mrs. Auley Brenair on Thursday.

Among those who attended the Stickwood-Linton wedding at Claremont on Friday were Mr. and Mrs. S. Stickwood, Mr. and Mrs. O. Stickwood, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Stickwood and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fairbairn and Donny, Sharon.

Miss Marjorie Reid, Oak Ridges, visited at the Edwards home on Sunday. Miss Hazel Edwards returned with her.

Mrs. A. Trivett and Miss Phyllis Pegg, Newmarket, attended the Stickwood-Linton wedding at Claremont on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pegg and baby visited Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Pegg on Sunday.

The Hope W.A. will meet at the home of Mrs. Auley Brenair on Oct. 6.

Indian Tells What Church
Has Done For Indians

Rev. Canon Ahenakow, supervising missionary of Indian work for the western part of the Anglican diocese of Saskatchewan, gave a most interesting and enlightening address at the evening service at St. Paul's Anglican church, Newmarket, on Sunday.

He said that it was thanks to the mission schools, supported by contributions, that the Indians were now good citizens of the Dominion. He told how many native Indians are now fighting overseas with the Canadian forces, or are in training in Canada preparing to go over.

subject. I was determined to learn all I could, so as to be in a position to help as many Canadians as possible after I returned to Newmarket.

"Most of your undertakings with the children of the community have involved considerable sacrifice in time and money. All that I ask is that the Lions club locate all the children with delayed or defective speech whose parents are unable to pay for corrective speech lessons, and bring or send them to me. At the present time I feel that I can devote an hour and a half each morning and an hour and a half each afternoon, five days a week to teaching these children. I would expect no remuneration for my services and would teach the children in my own home.

"These three hours would be sufficient time to look after 12 pupils per day. Some pupils would need lessons daily, but others might require only one or two a week. Thus it might be possible for me to look after 25 to 40 children. I don't suppose anyone knows how many children there are who need such help in this community, but I feel sure that the Lions club can make a survey without delay, so that we can start this work as soon as possible. I shall be pleased to co-operate with any committee. As far as I can learn, there is little being done in Canada along these lines and I really believe that your club, in sponsoring this work, will be serving our community in a very worthwhile enterprise.

"I believe that motokinaesthetics is the best method of speech correction for three good reasons. First, it is superior to other methods because it is the most definite and natural method. Each sound requires certain positions of tongue, lips and jaws and this method stimulates the definite muscles to produce the desired sounds.

"Second, it is superior because it is the easiest to learn in a short time. In fact, I believe two weeks of intensive training is sufficient time to learn all the positions of the elements of speech which we use in our English language. I learned the basic principles in one week—but Dr. Murray, head of the speech department at Denver University, convinced me that I was more motivated than the average teacher. After that there is need for continued practice to apply the knowledge effectively.

"Third, it is superior because it is readily understood by very young children, ages two to three. And even specially handicapped children, such as the deaf, blind, mute, and spastic, react better to this method of speech production.

"The importance of good speech deserves consideration. Without good speech there cannot be normal mental development, emotional or physical stability, or a pleasing personality. There is nothing more important to the development of the child's mentality and physical being than the proper development of speech. Children are not mentally deficient simply because they have speech handicaps.

"However, if speech isn't properly corrected in the early stages before two and three years, it will retard the child's mental growth at the ages of five and six. Until comparatively recent years there seemed nothing much to do about the speech-handicapped child of two and three—so the child continued with his speech handicap and acquired many other handicaps. There are cases of children of three and four whose intelligence quotient has jumped 20 to 30 points after the child acquired speech by the motokinaesthetic method. This should be ample proof that the mentality of the child may be suppressed if speech isn't directed at an early age. In our institutions for the feeble-minded today there are undoubtedly cases that are a result of inability to learn to speak by the usual auditory or visual methods—persons who could have been taught to speak in childhood by the motokinaesthetic method.

"Speech is the normal outlet for emotions without which we cannot have a normal individual physically. Quoting from Froese's 'Individualistic Psychology': 'Speech is a function of the feeling for association—which is hereditary to man, and the basis of all his relations with his environment.' It is the gift nature has given him to make up for his helplessness at the beginning of life. Is it any wonder then that a child is certain to become emotionally unbalanced if he is unable to make himself understood?

"He has to resort to strange antics as a substitute for speech. He gives vent to his feelings by assuming peculiar mannerisms. He over-exerts his larger muscles—waving his arms, jumping around or shaking his head to make himself understood—until he finds control of his finer speech muscles. He becomes a problem child—absolutely uncontrollable in many instances. He may become a nervous flighty child, resort to tantrums, refuse to eat, or do so spasmodically—thus undermining his physical health.

"What opportunity is there for the speech-handicapped child to develop a pleasing personality? There is no opportunity at all for him to do so as long as his inability to speak at all or to speak distinctly makes him the target of fun for his playmates and the object of pity for his teacher in the classroom. It is cruel to subject a speech-handicapped child to school life—if that speech handicap could have been eliminated during pre-school days. The child quite naturally assumes an inferiority complex, which retards all learning and results in anti-social instincts—a disagreeable personality—as expressed by the behavior of those who are 'soured on the world.'

"Then we must assume that good speech is of the utmost importance to normal mentality, physical and emotional stability, and a pleasing personality. To quote Mrs. Young, 'Speech, well habituated, correctly used from babyhood, without a period of 'baby talk' to be corrected later on, is one of the greatest assets in the building of personality. Speech muscles which perform their functions easily and automatically, because of the correct gaining of each step in the learning process, prepare the way for the best conditions under which to develop mentality and the emotional life.'

"The great need for early speech training should be dealt with more specifically. The best opportunities to acquire speech are from 12 to 36 months. If the child reaches the age of two and hasn't learned to talk or has learned to talk incorrectly through auditory or visual channels, it is time to apply the motokinaesthetic method of speech therapy. One to three years is nature's most favorable period for speech acquisition. After the age of three the child may become self-conscious or antagonistic toward speech development and become a negativistic child, hard to manage.

"Or he may have formed incorrect speech habits which are increasingly hard to break as time passes. Those doctors in the medical profession who have taken an interest in the advancement of speech therapy no longer try to console the parents of a speech-handicapped child by saying, 'Don't worry, your child will be alright—just give him time.' Doctors of science in the field of corrective speech have convinced those doctors in the medical profession that speech-handicapped children—those with delayed or defective speech—need attention before the age of three.

"Delay in speech with children of good mentality is often due to illness or deafness—or comes through unfavorable factors in the environment. Statistics convince us that children with delayed speech should be taught at 18 months if no attempt to speak has been made previous to that age.

"Defective speech often results when a child learns certain steps incorrectly. There is a relation at work here. If the child's speech were corrected in the initial stages before a habit was formed, it would be a simple matter. Progress is impeded when there is a conflict between two learning processes. The principles of good speech do not include 'baby talk.' During the correction of 'baby talk' conflicts between speech muscles often start. The child has to utter patterns struggling for expression the original wrong pattern and the acquired new pattern, 'little' and 'littie,' 'please' and 'please,' 'thank' and 'thank you.' In each example the positions of the tongue are different—behind the lower front teeth for the first pattern and behind the upper front teeth for the second pattern.

"Sometimes the tongue slips from one position to the other, sometimes there is a complete stop. Unless the correct pattern predominates, stuttering or stammering may be a normal consequence. Even though the correct pattern does eventually predominate, under stress of emotion, fright, or illness, the muscular conflict between the old and the new habit is so strong that we may reappear to check the child's fluency of speech. Incorrect speech should be corrected in the early stages before it becomes a habit. The urgent need for speech training is obvious and we must do all we can to promote it.

"I admit that I am strongly motivated as respects motokinaesthetics. My hope is that this cure will be available to every child throughout the dominion. Such special advantages mean so much to development of our children that they should be available to every one of them. In view of that I want to share the knowledge which I have been so fortunate as to acquire with as many others as can be located.

"Through the department of education I should like to help all the speech-handicapped children of school age by teaching the motokinaesthetic method of speech correction to all the teachers of corrective speech and the vibration motokinaesthetic combination method to all teachers of productive speech among the deaf. In the meantime I hope all the underprivileged speech-handicapped children in this community are either brought or sent to me by the Newmarket Lions club.

President Fred Thompson promised the club's full co-operation. Dr. S. J. Boyd suggested that the club should make a part payment to Mrs. Bowman for any work she does, similar to the part payment made to doctors and dentists.

Save BY MAIL

Determined, systematic saving by every citizen is part of the national price of VICTORY.

Patriotism now demands not only the saving of money but many other things—gasoline and tires, for example. Use of the motor car must be limited to necessary tasks—necessary to the war effort. Many Canadian farmers find it unnecessary to drive to town to do their banking. They just walk to their own mail-box and back.

Have you ever tried banking by mail? It is so easy and convenient. Write for our folder, "How to Bank by Mail."

SUTTON

Enjoy Duck-Hunting,
But Ducks Are Scarce

W. Osborne has given up his position as caretaker of Sutton schools after several years of continuous service. He expects to move to Toronto soon, where he is accepting a position.

Miss Lyola Beattie, Toronto, spent the weekend with Mrs. G.
 Morrison.
 Mrs. G. H. Caster, Newmarket, spent Sunday with Mr. Caster and Mr. and Mrs. S. Breuls at Franklin Lodge, Franklin Beach.
 Mrs. Thos. Horner is a patient at the Sutton Private hospital.

The Sutton churches were well attended on Sunday. At St. James' Anglican church it was "Thanksgiving Harvest Sunday." The speaker for the occasion was Dr. D. B. Rogers, M.A., D.D., D.C.L., Toronto. Dr.
 Rogers took both the morning and evening services owing to the illness of Rev. Mr. Hiltz and Rev. Mr. Evans, who were to have taken the services. The church was decorated with fall fruit and vegetables, tokens of the season. Both services were well attended, especially the morning service. The texts were Galatians 7: 13; Joshua 14:
 14. A. Chapman was guest soloist at both services.

Flt.-Sgt. P. G. Powell arrived safely in England last week.
 Most of the summer cottagers have returned to their Toronto homes. There are still a few who hope to remain until Thanksgiving. The month of September has been cooler than usual and the cool evenings have driven many people from their summer homes.
 There are a few enjoying duck-hunting, even though the ducks are scarce as yet.
 Sutton churches will partake of the world-wide communion services to be held on Sunday.

Zephyr

Mrs. J. H. Lockie returned home last week after spending a delightful holiday with her brothers in Minneapolis, whom she has not seen for several years.

Miss Grace Lockie and a friend of Toronto spent Sunday with Mrs. Lockie and a friend.
 Mrs. James Lockie attended the funeral of a niece in Toronto on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Foote, Windsor, Ont., and Mr. H. Foote and his sister, Mrs. Marshall, Toronto, visited Miss Julia
 Madill last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, Mount Albert, celebrated the diamond jubilee of their wedding at their home on Saturday, Sept. 25. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold spent most of their life in Scott township in the immediate vicinity of Zephyr.

It costs only 25 cents (if paid

 bring their plants for the plant sale.

The lunch committee is Mrs.
 D. English, Mrs. F. Graham and Mrs. Deavitt.

The dance sponsored by the Union Street Women's Institute at Belhaven for the soldiers' overseas boxes was a grand success. The total proceeds were $86.

Quite a few attended Ravenshoe anniversary services on Sunday.

Miss Mary Mills, Maxwell,
 Ont., spent a few days with her cousin, Mrs. Lillian Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Whyte, Roberta and Gail, and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Fraser and Margaret were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Beckett.

Mrs. T. Rose is spending a few days in Toronto.

 D. English.

Holland Landing

The Red Cross held a successful euchre at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mills on the Tate farm last Tuesday. About $28 was cleared to be given to the fund for Christmas boxes overseas.

Quilt Brings $30
 The quilt was won by Mrs. Mary Rolling, Sharon.

Mrs. M. Evans made the quilt and gave it to the Red Cross. Over $30 was raised.

Mr. W. Campbell, Toronto, who is not well, is spending some time at his summer home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stephenson and son of Toronto were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Stephenson.

Mr. T. L. Webb and Miss Marion
 Webb, Cookstown, and Mrs. E. J.
 Chapman, Toronto, visited Mrs. M.
 Evans on Thursday. The occasion was Mrs. Evans' birthday.

Mrs. C. Bellar, who has been ill,
 is recovering nicely.

The annual harvest thanksgiving service will be held next Sunday in Christ church at 3 p.m.

Mr. Jas. Morris, Toronto, has been vacationing with Mr. and Mrs.
 S. R. Goodwin.

Red Cross meetings are held in the council chambers each Tuesday afternoon.

The Y.P.S. meeting will be resumed next Wednesday evening at 8.15 in the church basement. A social with games and fun for everyone will open the season.

QUEENSVILLE

World-Wide Communion
Will Be Held On Sunday

LAC Clair Smith, Three Rivers, spent Saturday with his parents here.

Dvr. Dan Shannon spent the weekend at his home.

Mrs. McKenzie is spending a few days in Toronto with her son, Ross.

Mrs. Betty Bruce is enjoying a week's holidays at her home here.

Mrs. J. L. Smith entertained
 a group of ladies last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milsted spent Sunday in Newmarket, where Mr. Milsted took charge of the morning service in the Friends church.

Mrs. Jacob Smith has returned home after spending a week in Toronto with her daughters.

The world-wide communion service is being held at Sharon United church at 11.15 a.m., Sunday, Oct. 3. Hope and Queens-ville will join with Sharon for this service. An evening service will be held at Queensville at 8 o'clock. The choir will give special music.

The Women's Association of the United church are arranging to send Christmas boxes to the boys of the church overseas.
 They are asking for a shower of such things as are suitable for Christmas boxes, at their regular meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 5.

Mrs. Neelds of Mono Road, counsellor for the Girls' Work Board for Ontario, spoke at the morning service of the United church on Sunday. The occasion was the annual service of the C.G.I.T. and was conducted by the members. Miss Ruby Strasser, past president of the society, led the service. The junior choir was in attendance and their singing was greatly appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hartman,
 Rochester, N.Y., and Miss Ruby Craig, Toronto, were guests of Mrs. J. B. Aylward last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken. Boothby are moving to Newmarket.

Jos. English has purchased the Raymer property and intends making extensive repairs.

Wm. Henry is progressing nicely at the Toronto General hospital.

 family of Milliken visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo.
 Pearson last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Huntley spent Sunday and Monday visiting friends in Orangeville.

KESWICK

Mrs. Wm. Lloyd and Mrs. Vera Herring, Agincourt, were guests at Mrs. John VanNorman's on Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Miss Nora Shaw, Sharon, visited Mrs. S. Kennedy last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Grant have returned from their Big Bay Point hotel for the winter.

Mrs. S. Kennedy is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ferg. Taylor, Newmarket, for part of this week.

Miss K. Peel, R. N., Toronto, is visiting at her home for a couple of weeks.

Holy communion will be held at the morning service of the United church on Sunday, Oct.
 3. This Sunday is world-wide communion Sunday and Kes-wick church will be celebrating communion with the churches throughout the world. An ever-increasing number of denominations throughout the world celebrate communion on the first Sunday of October.

The subject of Rev. Gordon Lapp's sermon at the evening service on Oct. 3 will be "The Meat of Jesus." A meeting of the board of stewards will be held after the evening service.

The Sunday-school rally day of the United church was an event long to be remembered.
 The members of the Church School with their teachers occupied the front centre pews.

Frank Marritt, superintendent of the Sunday-school, led the service, the theme of which was "Giving." David Huntley, Phyllis Winch, Gordon Winch, and Miss Betty Mahoney took part in the service.

Ruth Mary Winch, Phyllis
 Rye, Marie Draper and Corrine
 Pickard sang a very pleasing quartet. Margaret Fockler gave an inspiring address of interest to both young and old.

The October church supper of the United church will be held on Thursday, Oct. 7. The committee in charge are Mrs. Walker, Mrs. J. W. Hurst, Mrs. James
 Clark, Mrs. Sam. Pegg and Mrs.
 Bernard Rye.

A good supper will be provided, followed by an entertaining program. A meeting of the Women's Association will be held in the afternoon.

A recent event of interest was the shower given for Muriel Rye in the Sunday-school room of the United church. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

Mrs. Elmer Peters, Mrs. Donald Harper and Mrs. Bernard Rye sponsored the shower.
 Douglas and Daniel Peters, the twins, drew in a charmingly decorated wagon with the gifts.

Doris McGenerty and Isobel
 Peters assisted with the opening of the gifts. Rev. Gordon Lapp was the chairman of the short, interesting program.

Eulah and Reeve Pollock spent last weekend at their homes.

Grant Redditt, who is stationed at Galt, Vernon Rye of the Canadian army and Ted Marritt, who is at present stationed at the air observers' school at Malton, all spent the weekend at their homes.

MOUNT ALBERT King And Queen Send Anniversary Message

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Arnold, Mount Albert, celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage on Saturday.

An informal reception was held in the afternoon, at which they received along with the members of their family. Many friends came to offer their congratulations and best wishes for continued health and happiness.

Congratulatory messages were received from King George and Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and from many friends far and near. Beautiful bouquets of flowers were presented by the Women's Association and Sunday-school of the United church.

During the reception, Rev. W. H. Burgess and E. Wagg, on behalf of the official board of the church, read and presented an address expressing greetings and congratulations.

Those present at the family supper held after the reception were Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Arnold, Haileybury, Mrs. J. M. Arnold, Uxbridge, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Arnold, Hugh and Marion, Brooklin, Mrs. E. A. Kendree and Isabel, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Arnold and Clarkston, Zephyr, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Russell, Terra Cotta, and Miss Anne Kingsley, Toronto, and Miss Emma Thompson, Mount Albert, and Mrs. Wm. Thompson, Zephyr. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold have resided in the vicinity of Zephyr and Mount Albert all their lives, the greater part having been spent on the farm near Zephyr. They retired 17 years ago to the village of Mount Albert.

They have always been actively interested in church and community affairs. Mr. Arnold acted as Sunday-school superintendent at Zephyr and Mount Albert for 30 years and he also served for several years on Scott township council.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold are both able to tell much of the past history and enjoy fairly good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McQuade, Aurora, were guests on Sunday at the home of Mrs. McQuade's niece, Mrs. Leadbetter.

The public school pupils have been doing their bit in gathering milkweed for the making of rubber. The children have been two evenings after school picking it.

POLICE COURT Drinking, Gives Kiddies Lift, Two Are Injured

Finding Joseph VanWard, Well-lesley Place, Toronto, guilty of dangerous driving on the fourth concession of East Gwillimbury on Sept. 18, Magistrate W. N. Robinson, in York county police court in Newmarket on Tuesday, remanded him in custody one week for sentence.

With the consent of Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., a charge of criminal negligence against the defendant was withdrawn.

Township Constable Joseph Jardine said that the accident had taken place on a gravel road in East Gwillimbury township and upon arriving there he found a car turned upside-down in the west ditch. He stated that there was no one at the scene when he arrived but, while following the tracks made by the car, he met one of the persons connected with the accident who informed him that two small children had been injured and taken to the hospital.

"How old were the children?" questioned the crown.

"One was 11 and the other 12," replied the officer. "I questioned Mr. VanWard and he told me that he was the driver of the car which was in the ditch. He said that he had met another car on the road and lost control when trying to pass it."

Constable Jardine said that one of the youngsters had received severe head injuries and was still in the hospital. The other child, he said, had been treated for injuries and taken to her home.

"How much damage was done to the car?" asked the crown. "It was a total wreck," replied the officer.

"Was he drinking?" interrupted Magistrate Robinson.

"He had been drinking," answered the witness. "According to his own admission, he had a couple of glasses of beer before leaving Toronto. He had picked up the two girls on the road. They were going to pick apples."

"They weren't his own children?" asked his worship. The witness stated that the children did not belong to the defendant.

Pleading in her husband's behalf, Mrs. VanWard told his worship that she and the defendant had been married a year ago last July and that her husband had been in the army before working in a war plant.

"I am not going to do anything about this man's operator's license but leave it up to the department to cancel it or not," commented Magistrate Robinson. "Apparently he needs the car for his work."

His worship had just found John Ross, 314 Kane Ave., Toronto, guilty on three charges, dangerous driving, for which he fined the defendant $25 and costs of $12 or 30 days in jail, leaving the scene of an accident, for which he imposed the penalty of $25 and costs of $5 or 30 days, and illegal possession of liquor, for which he imposed the penalty of $10 and costs of $2.50 or 15 days in jail.

The defendant pleaded not guilty to the dangerous driving charge and guilty to the other two charges.

"At eight o'clock on the evening of Sept. 25 I was approached by Mr. Hugh McMillan of Armitage post office near Aurora, who informed me that his car was struck while he was driving south on the highway," testified Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson. "His car was damaged considerably. He gave me the license number of the car which struck his car."

"The officer went on to say that Mr. McMillan told him that he had been travelling south when for some reason or other he looked into his mirror and noticed the car driven by the defendant coming right up behind him."

"He said that he tried to get over on to the shoulder of the road but couldn't do so before the other car struck him from behind," stated the officer.

Constable Ferguson said that he informed other traffic officers on the highway to watch out for the defendant's car while he patrolled the side-roads. He finally found

Mr. Holder told his worship that he had been driving around the curve and that the lights of the approaching truck were very strong. He said that Mr. Subeck's truck was over on his side of the road and that although he pulled his car over to the side of the road he was unable to avoid a crash.

Mrs. Edwards, who was a passenger in the Holder car, testified that although she was seated in the rear seat of the car she noticed that the truck was "either on the white line or a little over."

His worship adjourned the case for 15 minutes while those concerned with the case drove to Holland Landing to look over the scene of the accident.

After examining the road his worship said, "There is certainly considerable doubt in my mind in this case. So I am going to dismiss the charge."

After hearing most of the evidence in a charge of theft against Elmer Drury, Cedar Valley, Magistrate Robinson adjourned the case until next week in order to allow the defence to produce further witnesses. The charge against Mr. Drury was laid on complaint of Fred. Bowser, Newmarket.

According to the complainant, Mr. Drury had taken articles which he valued at $50 from his farm in Whitchurch, during April of this year, while he himself was ill. When the doctor told him that he would be unable to work for a number of months he decided to hold an auction sale of the farm implements. He stated that his brother, Jack, Bowser, was in charge and hired Mr. Drury to look after the chores.

The witness stated that when he returned to the farm a number of articles were missing which were not on the bill of sale at the auction. He said that with a search warrant and in company with Constable Ronald Watt he went to the farm of Mr. Drury, where he found a number of the missing articles. Mr. Bowser further stated that Mr. Drury brought a Mr. Reynolds and himself to places on the fifth concession of Whitchurch and on the Aurora side-road, where some of the farm articles were hidden in the ditch.

Cross-examined by Defence Counsel Charles Evans, the complainant admitted that Mr. Drury had been a good neighbor. He said that he did not know if anyone gave the defendant the right to take the articles.

County Constable Ronald Watt told his worship that he had gone with Mr. Bowser to Mr. Drury's home to search for the articles alleged to have been stolen.

"I asked Mr. Drury if he had the articles and he said that he had some of the articles and he took them out and laid them on the grass in front of the house," stated the officer. "Mr. Bowser identified them as his."

"Did you have any conversation with Mr. Drury?" asked the crown.

"Yes, Mr. Drury told me that he had been looking after the stock while Mr. Bowser was ill," replied the witness. "He said that Mr. Goode was in charge and had given him permission to take these articles." The officer said that no mention was made of the articles in the ditch.

In his defence Mr. Drury said that he had worked for Mr. Bowser on and off for some time and that, at the time when the latter was sick, Jack Bowser asked him to look after the chores. He said that either Jack Bowser or his hired man, Mr. Goode, came out to help him every day and had things ready for the auction sale.

"Bill Goode told me to take the articles mentioned," stated Mr. Drury. "I didn't take anything, only what he told me to take." The defendant denied that he had gone with Mr. Bowser to the Aurora side-road.

"Why did you give the articles back?" asked the crown.

"I thought it best to give them back," replied Mr. Drury. "For all the stuff was worth, it wasn't worth the trouble."

Commenting on a charge of assault against Thomas Coulter, Hammettown, which was laid on complaint of H. A. Fizzell, Schomberg, his worship stated, "There is too much of a conflict of evidence and the assault is so trivial that I am going to dismiss the case." Mr. Coulter had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

According to Mr. Fizzell, at midnight, Sept. 11, the accused came to his store in Schomberg in a belligerent mood and said that he would like to speak to him "outside." The complainant said that they went into the store-room and that Mr. Coulter grabbed him by the arm and tore his shirt. He added that his wife called Constable Gus Farquhar, who took the defendant out of the store.

Cross-examined by counsel for the defence, Arleigh Armstrong, Mr. Fizzell said that the argument between himself and the defendant was over $5 which the latter had borrowed from him and failed to pay back. He admitted that in the past Mr. Coulter's credit at the store had always been good.

Mrs. Fizzell, wife of the complainant, told his worship that she had called the police officer. She said that her husband's shirt had been torn but that she did not see Mr. Coulter push him through the door into the kitchen.

Mr. Kearns, Schomberg, and Joseph Caserly, Kettleby, both testified that they saw the complainant pushed through the door but had not heard the argument. Mr. Coulter said that he had gone to the store to talk to Mr. Fizzell about the $5 which the latter accused him of owing him.

Douglas Sheardown testified that he had been present at the time of the argument and said that Mr. Coulter did not strike Mr. Fizzell.

"Mr. Fizzell put up his hand and Mr. Coulter held it," stated the witness.

In dismissing the charge Magistrate Robinson told the defendant to stay away from the complainant's store in the future.

On traffic charges Arthur Crowston, Mount Dennis, was fined $25 and costs. Charles W. Peddle, Toronto, John Hartley, Hamilton, and T. D. Ferguson, Toronto, were each fined $15 and costs and were fined by County Constable Ronald Watt.

Bryce H. Hunter, Toronto, who was fined by Constable Alex. McMillan of North Gwillimbury, and Dr. V. C. Maloney, Toronto, who was fined by Constable Carl Morton of North Gwillimbury, were each fined $13 and costs.

Link Brass and Copper Ltd., Toronto, fined by Constable Morton, and James Foster Kilgour, Hamilton, fined by Constable McMillan, were each fined $10 and costs.

Frank Hay, Winnifred Hosterman, George Swing and Phillip Gordon, all of Toronto, were fined by Constable McMillan and each fined $9 and costs. Arthur Gibson, Toronto, was fined $7 and costs, and Norman Joyce, Toronto, was fined $11 and costs. Both motorists were fined by Constable McMillan. Patrick Murray and Harold Fodder, both of Toronto, who were fined $6 and costs each, were fined by Constable Kenneth Mount in Newmarket.

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed on George Gynne, Toronto, whom his worship found guilty of failing to be the owner of an operator's license.
